Wages of Rape is Death

By K.B. Ganapathy
Editor-in-Chief

The day of new dawn in India's judiciary and the legal system was 5.5.2017. The Supreme Court confirmed death sentence for four rapists in 2012 Delhi rape case. There were actually six rapists but one of the convicts, Ram Singh committed suicide in Tihar Jail while the other was a minor. This 'minor' who committed the crime of a 'major' was tried in a Juvenile Court and served time in a remand home.

An NGO is entrusted with his after-care and he is working as a cook in a hotel incognito. But he must be watched. The 'basic instinct' will possess him as he grows and with the kind of violent sexual perversion he exhibited in the case of that unfortunate 23-year-old physiotherapist intern, Nirbhaya, he is a potential danger to society. You are warned.

Now that the Supreme Court has upheld the death sentence in this case, it might be a good idea to observe 5th May every year as the 'Women's Safety Day' like 'AIDS Awareness Day'. It will be an annual warning to all the potential rapists and those who have a propensity to molest or misbehave with women.

We must remember that but for the TV and Press media this rape too would have passed into the dustbin of criminal history of our country; the case ending with a delay of 10 or 15 years, the accused released on bail and finally either acquitted or the criminals getting away with minor punishment. So the attention and action.

Pressure was put on the Police by the public to catch the culprits. There were public protests of candle light march on the streets of Delhi and also in other cities throughout the country. It became a national shame as much as an issue and our MPs and Ministers were forced to take note of the most heinous and diabolical crime.

As a result, the law relating to juvenile justice was revised. Now the minors in the age group of 16-18 can go on trial under the regular law, the Indian Penal Code (IPC). Rape was also brought under the crime punishable with the most severe of the severest punishment — death. With the amendment to the law, rape was also made a non-bailable offence.

Another progressive development that has come out of this case was the establishment of 400 Fast Track Courts all over the country to try these cases. A unique fund called 'Nirbhaya Fund' with Rs. 1,000 crore was set up to take care of the rape victims and related matters. A complaint is heard that no plan is worked out to utilise this Fund so far. But let us hope, it will under Modi.

Another positive result of this case was establishment of over 3,000 Women Police Stations all over the country and more may be needed considering the prejudice seen in the general Police Stations against women complainants, specially in sex-related cases.

One issue that seemed to overshadow the question of punishment in the case of a rape convict is about awarding death sentence. Following Nirbhaya's rape and later her death, the nation's conscience was seered and the government appointed a Commission under former Chief Justice of India J.S. Verma to suggest strong laws to deal with sexual offences. Sadly, it was not in favour of death penalty for offences of sexual assault of this kind. Thanks to NGOs, apparently their daughters were never raped and they never suffered the kind of pain and trauma a rape victim and her parents suffer. These NGOs and even the Human Rights Commission protested and said NO to death punishment. Could be that Verma Commission was influenced by these sham sentiments of humanism. These are the ones who are kind even to the terrorists. Mercifully for the country, Supreme Court did not think so.

State BJP Executive meet begins

BJP State President and former Chief Minister B.S. Muralidhar Rao, Union Ministers Ananthkumar, D.V. Sadananda Gowda and Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council K.S. Eshwarappa look on. [See more reports and photos inside]*

Mysuru, May 6 (MTY&BCT)- The two-day State BJP Executive Meeting began at the Rajendra Kalamandira in city this morning with party leaders attempting to bury their differences even as the rift within the party came out in the open.

As if to indicate the ongoing tussle within the party, BJP State President and former Chief Minister B.S. Yeddyurappa snubbed Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council K.S. Eshwarappa by not even looking up when the latter greeted him on the dais.

The second incident which showed that all was not well with the BJP was when Yeddyurappa did not mention the names of Eshwarappa and former Chief Minister Jagadish Shettar in his speech.

Speaking after BJP National General Secretary P. Muralidhar Rao, Yeddyurappa, after mentioning the names of dignitaries on the dais, just mentioned "leaders sitting on either sides" while referring to Shettar and Eshwarappa.

Malavika Avinash Star attraction

Actress Malavika Avinash was sitting in the front row at the State BJP meet. Speaking to Star of Mysore, she said, "I came early and sat here as I did not want to create any confusion. I am sorry that I am not able to get up as I have fractured my leg."

Asked where it had happened, she replied, "I had gone to Coorg for a holiday. I always walk very fast and it was one of my unlucky days where I twisted my leg. I am in a plaster and not able to get up." Prodded for her reaction about contesting the 2018 Assembly election from K.R. Constituency in Mysuru, she said, "Now is not the time to talk about it. I will definitely talk later."

When this question about Malavika was posed to former Minister S.A. Ramdas, a ticket aspirant from KR, he just dismissed it by saying that they were mere rumours.

Actress Malavika Avinash who recently made news as a probable candidate for K.R. Constituency is seen with BJP minority leader Anwar Manippady and former MLA A.R. Krishnamurthy.

An innovative initiative

The four-column-wide caption, reading "6 crore seed balls to be tossed in State during this monsoon" published in a daily early this week must have generated euphoria in the minds of most readers of that news. The matter, carried in one of the inside pages, along with a picture of girl students of a Mysuru-based primary school engaged on preparing the seed balls, made of a mixture of red and black soil, very much deserved to be published on the front page of the daily, may be with a caption sprawling across more than four column. While the pages of the land's history, as old timers of the city can recollect their school teachers of the past highlighting rulers of the bygone days credited with raising trees along roads as part of their administration. Only one name, everyone knows who, has hogged the limelight for having planted saplings of trees and nurtured them with love and own resources. Chroniclers will do well to record for posterity the ongoing countrywide tree-chopping spree in the name of development, Karnataka earning the dubious distinction as a top tree-chopping State.

One who protects trees is protected by the trees, says an elegant expression (vriksho rakshathi rakshitaha) traced to the land's scriptures. As if to mock at this simple-yet-wise guideline, the law-makers of our times and the functionaries in administration in tandem are mindlessly chopping full-grown trees by thousands all over the State converting the green top of living spaces into grey top as it were, read trees yielding place to roads and concrete buildings.

While many voluntary groups of citizens across the land, including Mysuru's well-known non-government organisations, have done their bit to dissuade the authorities from denuding spaces that have hosted lush greenery from times immemorial, the damage to environment has been done, apart from disturbing the all-too-vital water-cycle of water-evaporating-vapourisation-cloud-rain that has sustained life for centuries. Now comes the news of an innovative initiative by over 150 like-minded organisations from across the State joining hands to roll 6 crore seed balls to be tossed on hills, open spaces, parks and roadsides covering the length and breadth of the State during the ensuing monsoon. Preparation of seed balls have reportedly begun in all 30 districts of Karnataka involving school, college students, employees of private companies and volunteers of different organisations.

Given the mouth-watering list of fruits such as guava, seethaphal, jack-fruit, jamun and so on whose seeds will be embedded in the seed balls, and the methodology of planting them in a fail-safe procedure, the present generation people of Karnataka will be gratefully remembered if they rise to the occasion, Lord Varuna blessing the initiative.

SECURITY NET: Offices of most political parties have an open-door policy. Anybody can walk into the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) Headquarters at 11, Ashoka Road, after a cursory check by Delhi Police personnel in plainclothes. There are also private security guards, who might stop or restrict the entry of people to where party chief Amit Shah sits. Parties such as the Communist Party of India-Marxist (CPI-M) and Janata Dal-United do not even have Police personnel or private security guards; people can walk right into the office of the Party Chief. But the Congress remains different. There are security guards who would check the identification of visitors and ask them the reason for visiting the Party's 24, Akbar Road, Headquarters. There is also a reception office that scans visitors, and decides if they should be allowed to meet any of the leaders. In contrast, BJP Chief Shah meets workers at least once a week, while CPI-M General Secretary Sitaram Yechury can even be seen sharing a cup of tea or cigarette with party workers. — In Business Standard.

Popcorn into Pop Art

Austin: Harry Kalenberg has a unique hobby — he turns pieces of popcorn into tiny works of art using only coloured felt markers and pens. From miniature models of celebrities like Elvis or Donald Trump, to popular cartoon characters and animals, Harry has a gift for spotting the craziest things in a bowl of popcorn.

It all started 28-years-ago, when Harry Kalenberg and his wife Esther were sitting on the couch one evening, eating popcorn. At one point, the artist spotted a strange-looking piece of popcorn that resembled a gorilla. He took out a ballpoint pen and started painting the details he saw with his mind's eye, eventually bringing the popcorn gorilla to life. And that's how his career as a popcorn artist started. The Plano-based artist always keeps dozens of coloured markers and hands on hand when eating popcorn, just in case he spots his next artwork. His collection was displayed in Ripley's Believe It or Not Museums all over the world. Some of his works have sold for as much as $300.

The Sun Painter

Denver: The word heliography usually refers to a photographic process invented in 1822, but Colorado-based artist Michael Papadakis has given it a new meaning after using it to describe his art of harnessing the sun to burn intricate artworks onto wooden panels with a magnifying glass. Up until five years ago, Michael Papadakis used to create art the old fashioned way, but now he discovered a new and ingenious tool – the magnifying glass. The young artist threw away all of his painting supplies and started experimenting with sun painting instead. Luckily for him, his home town of Golden, in Colorado, gets around 300 days of sun a year, so he got a lot of practice in the last 5 years. Holding a wide range of magnifying glass types a few feet away from his wooden canvas, Michael focuses the sun's rays in a small point which he then expertly guides with his hands to scorch his designs into the wood, from natural landscapes to romantic and heart warming scenes and company logos, and so on.

NEET aspirants in dilemma over CBSE rules on using washroom

Sir,

The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) is conducting National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (UG) — which is also termed as NEET — on Sunday, 7th May 2017, for class 12 (II PU) students applying for seats in Medical Colleges in the country.

In the Admit Card issued to the candidates online, CBSE has given eighteen (18) instructions. Instruction No. 12 reads as follows: "No candidate shall be allowed to use toilets in last 30 minutes of examination, that is, from 12.30 pm to 1 pm."

The candidates are required to be present in the exam centre at 7.30 am on the day of the test to finish various formalities like verification of their identity etc., standing in queue and take-up the exam between 10 am and 1 pm. The students will have to leave their home by 5 am to reach the exam centres which are generally situated in far off places. Therefore, there is no knowing when the bodies of the candidates start urging them to use the wash-room.

While most of the candidates may be able to control for a shorter or longer period, a few of them may not be able to control even for a few minutes. The reasons for such inability to control can be both Physiological and Psychological. It could be juvenile diabetes. It could be the fear of the examination itself.

Therefore, one cannot understand how CBSE ignored those facts of life and have taken upon themselves to prohibit use of bathroom during a particular period, namely between 12.30 pm and 1 pm on the day of the exam.

People's representatives and educationists, including our Medical fraternity, should advise the CBSE to withdraw such ridiculous instructions.

SC/ST employees to take out rally in Bengaluru on May 8

Mysuru, May 6 (RKB&DM)- Urging the State Government to file a review petition before the Constitution Bench of the Supreme Court against the Apex Court's Feb. 9 ruling striking down 'consequential seniority' in the promotion of SC/ST employees awarded by the State Government in 1978, the Karnataka State Government SC/ST Employees Co-ordination Committee will take out a rally in Bengaluru on May 8.

Vedike opposes proposed Congress Bhavan in city

Mysuru, May 6- Mysuru Rakshana Vedike (MRV) has declared that the land on which the Congress party is planning to construct Congress Bhavan, should be taken back and be used to extend the City Railway Station.

Addressing a press meet here yesterday, the Vedike President M.K. Premkumar said that the City Congress was planning to build Congress Bhavan at the plot abutting Mysuru City Railway Station.

Maintaining that the prime property should be utilised for public use, he said that MUDA authorities should take back the site as Congress has not utilised the property for four decades, which is a violation of lease norms.

Stating that the 11,000 sq.ft land was acquired from Bhudevi Farm, Premkumar said the then CITB in 1967, allotted the land to D. Devaraja Urs Social, Economic and Political Endowment Trust on an annual lease of Rs. 12.

As the Trust failed to adhere to the norms, the land was allotted to City (District) Congress Committee in 1980. But in the last 37 years, the Congress had failed to utilise the land and now the party has taken up the construction of Bhavan, in violation of norms, he alleged.

Continuing, Premkumar said, in 2012, the Railway Department had submitted a memorandum to allot the land for expansion of the City Railway Station.

Urging MUDA to take back the land from Congress and allot it to the Railways for public use, he warned that the Vedike along with various other associations, will take up a legal fight against MUDA, if the civic authority failed to take back the land from Congress.

Not the cleanest... just least dirty!

A month ago, two students Srivalli Rattehalli and Vishnu Priyan visited Star of Mysore office to show some photographs. The two of them had taken some time off and ridden around the city clicking photographs of the two-time winner of the "Cleanest City in India." Their photographs proved anything but that.

I was always a sceptic whenever we kept blowing our trumpet as the cleanest city and their photographs proved my doubts right... Mysuru is not the cleanest city, it is just a less dirty city. Of course, this year we are 5th but that too is a surprise.

Two years ago, I was on a bus going to Bengaluru and my co-passenger was from Mandya. That morning all the newspapers had carried the news of Mysuru being the cleanest city in India and I mentioned to my co-passenger about it. Then I also told him, as if to console a friend who had gotten lower marks, that his city, Mandya, also had come an impressive 6th rank in the nation's cleanest city exam. Unlike me he was not impressed, instead he asked "Henge sir...?!"

Just then it hit me, not the profundity of the simple question "Henge?" but rather the stench from the open frothy drainage outside Bengaluru. That year Bengaluru was ranked the cleanest capital in India! After we passed it, he continued "Henge sir idu decide madodu...?" (How do they decide this?). It then stuck me. Was this a case of "In the kingdom of the blind, one eyed man is king?"

It sure is, because when one enters the cleanest city Mysuru from Bengaluru you are welcomed by construction debris on either side of the road [see pic. 1 taken this morning]. Now if someone visits Mysuru to check out India's cleanest city, this is the welcome they get. So, truly, is our city the cleanest? Or is it just the 'least dirty' city?

In 2015-16 when Mysuru won the cleanest city tag, out of the 100 points, 20 marks was for open defecation indicators and 22 for solid waste management indicators. In both these categories Mysuru is strong.

This year more cities with lesser population were included and also of the total score of 2,000 points, 900 was assigned for a city being open defecation free and solid waste management. Again like the previous years, Mysuru scored high on these two. But this year, 600 points were given for citizens' feedback and 500 points for independent observation and here we failed. The citizens don't think their city is really as clean as they would like it to be. So the previous years it didn't matter if you had debris dumps, dug-up roads, open drains and uncleared garbage in residential areas but this year it did.

Debris welcome tourists to Mysuru. (Pic. 1)

[Pics by Srivalli Rattehalli and Vishnu Priyan]

Now, time to stop being cynical and see the bright side. Most people who visit Mysuru say that ours is indeed a cleaner city compared to theirs. MCC must also get credit for programmes such as segregating waste at the household level by distributing 53,000 waste bins. They also deserve credit for collecting 400 tones of garbage every day and converting 200 tonnes of it into high quality manure which they sell and generate nearly Rs. 6 lakh every year. But timely garbage collection and monitoring the disposing of debris has cost us the cleanest city tag.

Also our politicians need to stop indulging in 'garbage politics' literally. It is no secret that local leaders use garbage dumping as a tool to harass and extract 'favour.' There have been numerous cases reported around the city where local politicians force MCC to relocate garbage bins close to newly-built commercial complexes and order them not to clear it until the owner makes a "mercy payment." Some of them are so heartless that they dump garbage near schools because the school management did not give enough number of seats! How can we be the cleanest city when the fathers of our city use the threat of garbage to harass citizens?

But to a large extent, credit has to go to 'most' Mysureans who are quite conscious with an 'activist' inclination when it comes to their city. Be it saving the serenity of Chamundi Hill, be it saving trees or be it clearing garbage, they write to newspapers and confront their local authorities.

Now, while we gloat we must also accept the fact that Mysuru has not grown as rapidly as other tier two cities like Pune or Noida and this is what has made Mysuru fairly manageable.

With double tracking and air connectivity, Mysuru sooner or later will have some level of industrialisation and immigration and Mysuru is not prepared to handle any of that. This is the reason why many Mysureans hope and pray that Mysuru remains an industrial pariah.

For now, while we must be glad that we are still one of the least 'dirty' cities, let's accept that Mysuru is not really 'all that' clean and hope that our CM, who is from Mysuru, will help us become truly the cleanest city next year.

Venugopala Swamy Temple beckons tourists

If devotees cannot go to the temple, the temple goes to devotees ! This is what happened at Krishna Raja Sagara. The 12th century Venugopala Swamy Temple, which remained submerged when the KRS was full and resurfaced when the water level reached an all time low, was shifted to the nearby Hosa Kannambadi village, thanks to liquor baron and philanthropist late Sri Hari Khoday who took up this gigantic task as a Khoday Foundation Project. Today, the temple, which is waiting for inauguration, has become a major tourist attraction. This Weekend Star Supplement throws light on the relocated ancient marvel.

Submerged temple becomes a living monument

A view of the Venugopala Swamy Temple.

One of the most prominent and emerging tourist spots near Mysuru is the Venugopala Swamy Temple at Hosa Kannambadi, near Krishna Raja Sagara Dam.

The temple is said to be built at the same time when Channakeshava Temple was constructed at Somanathapura by Hoysala rulers during 12th century. Earlier, the temple was located at Kannambadi village. But with the construction of KRS Dam, the entire village of Kannambadi submerged, including the temple structure. At this time, the then King Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar ordered for the construction of the new village which was named Hosa Kannambadi.

There were a couple of temples at Kannambadi village, about a dozen miles from Mysore, when Sir M. Visvesvaraya planned the KRS reservoir, as the Chief Engineer of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar in 1909. When the project was completed across a lake there by 1930, three major temples of Kannambadi village submerged in the reservoir waters. While one was an Eshwara Temple, the other major one was the Venugopala Swamy Temple. The third one was a small one dedicated to Kalamma, a local deity.

The main idol of Venugopala Swamy, Lord Krishna playing the flute as a cow-herd, was also shifted to a new temple premises in the rehabilitated village. The Eshwara temple is deep inside the waters and visible only when the waters recede rarely to the lowest level of 35 feet. The 700-year-old Venugopala Swamy Temple, however, showed up almost every year due to inadequate rainfall.

The newly-sculpted Venugopala Swamy idol seen kept in paddy husk. The temple authorities are yet to decide the date of installation ceremony. The statues of Lord Ganesha, Goddess Parvathi, Lord Shani, Goddess Cauvery and others will also be installed.

Originally, the temple complex was huge with an area of 50 acres. It had two 'prakaras', outer gate, verandas on sides, yagashala and kitchen. This was enclosed by second mahadwara, which led to the inner enclosure. Adding to this was the sanctum sanctorum, an entrance hall, a middle hall and the main mantap. The cell opposite the entrance had a figure of Keshava (Krishna) and the south cell, containing the figure of Gopalakrishna, was added later.

The construction of the KRS Dam began in 1909 and by 1930, the entire Kannambadi village was submerged. It was during 2000 that the temple resurfaced when water levels in the reservoir dropped. Though the temple was underwater for around 70 years, it remained intact.

Seeing the architectural beauty of the temple, Khoday Foundation, under the guidance of Sri Hari Khoday, relocated the building block-by-block at a cost of Rs. 2.5 crore. More than 200 workers and machines removed the carved stones and pillars of the temple, after marking each one of them. Initially, it was decided that the temple would be located to Madhuvana Park in Mysuru but protests from Kannambadi villagers forced the Foundation to the relocate the temple to a place near Hosa Kannambadi village.

The new location of the temple is about one kilometre to the north of the original site where the backwaters would touch the outer walls of the temple if KRS water level touches 124.80 ft, its maximum capacity. The relocated temple is located around 9 km by road from Brindavan Gardens. It is around 30 km from Mysuru.

When Kanchi Swamiji's prediction came true

Kanchi Swamiji Jayendra Saraswathi had predicted that Khoday family would be "getting a temple". The seer had told this to Khoday family head Ramachandra Khoday around 30 years back. This was disclosed to Star of Mysore by late Sri Hari Khoday during May, 2003 when he had then kick-started the relocation of the temple. He said, "When told about the temple, I could not be¬lieve. But now I strongly believe that Seers will not predict without proper reasons."

At the time of shifting, the temple had several dam¬ages and some stones were broken. Following this, new stones were added during restoration works. The Khoday Foundation had summoned sculptors from Tamil Nadu to carve the stones. Muniswamy Muthu, Chief Sculptor from Tiruchirapalli supervised the entire project.

The idol of Lord Venugopala Swamy was removed from the temple and was reinstalled at the new temple built in Hosa Kannambadi. The villagers said that the then King Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar shifted the idol at the time when the dam was being constructed during 1911. They added that the idol installed at the temple will remain as is and the new temple will have a new idol.

Living Monument...

The relocated temple is in the original shape and design and the design was computerised and each stone was identified with numbers for relocating them in the same architectural style. The in-house architects of the Khoday Foundation had videographed the original temple, took over 16,000 photographs and marked each and every slab used in the construction. Each and every stone was numbered, removed and relocated at Hosa Kannambadi by trained artisans and sculptors and a few experts who were brought in from Tamil Nadu.

While some stones from the original temple were retained, old and worn-out stones have been replaced with new ones. The sanctum sanctorum has been retained and refurbished and new polished stones have been added.

The restoration and relocation began in May 2003 and was completed in 2011. However, the temple has been waiting for official inauguration as the main idol of Venugopala Swamy, the presiding deity, is yet to be installed. Sources said that idol, resembling the original statue, was ready to be installed and the inauguration dates have to be finalised.

The temple is open for public from morning till evening. One visit to the temple, people can enjoy the architectural splendour with family and friends. People can also enjoy visiting other tourist spots near the Venugopala Swamy Temple which includes the KRS Dam, Brindavan Garden, Blue Lagoon (located in KRS backwaters), Srirangapatna (which is nearly 14 km from KRS) and of course Mysuru.

This apart, visitors, especially those who like to relish river fish and crab can tickle their taste buds with mouth-watering fresh fish delicacies which are served at KRS and surrounding areas. Visitors can also stay overnight at KRS as there are lot of hotels and resorts nearby. Regular transport is available till KRS and visitors can hire local transport to reach the Venugopala Swamy temple.

Son of Kodagu leaves his footprint on snow-clad mountains -3

While it is common for Kodagu youth to join the Armed Forces and dedicate their lives for their Nation, ready to make the supreme sacrifice, there are some sons of the soil who have earned name and fame through their service in the Survey Department. One such hero is Kalyatanda B. Appachu, son of late Kalyatanda A. Belliappa. Born on 24.6.1935 in Virajpet town, Kodagu District — when it was a 'C' State — Appachu retired as Superintending Surveyor, Survey of India, after a long, challenging and fruitful innings.

K.B. Appachu

In this interview to Star of Mysore, he shares his experiences in the Indo-China border at a time when India had to face Chinese aggression and lose many precious lives due to the wrong policies of our then leaders. Excerpts.

SOM: Any bitter experience that haunts you?

Appachu: At the base camp, we took rest for 3 days. After some time we found that one porter was missing. In order to bring instruments we had left behind as well as to search that missing porter, we began tracking back again and on reaching the spot where we had crossed the stream, we could see some footprints deviated towards a small cave. We went there and could find the missing porter lying inside the cave. He was dead. All of us passed mud to cover the body. Then we went to the previous camp where we had left the instruments, collected them and returned to our base camp.

Meanwhile another team which had gone to other peak started returning. On their way, they were thrown down by an avalanche and all escaped except for one peon Rameshwar. He was carrying the instrument on his back and was buried deep in snow due to weight. Our search party could not find him but next the summer, an Assam Rifles search party could find his dead body and performed the last rites. After this bitter experience of exploratory survey, all of us returned to the party headquarters in Shillong.

SOM: Any incident you still regret?

Appachu: In 1966-67 Sultan Batheri (Karnataka-Kerala border), I was asked to carry out Model Control work for photogrammetric work for the Defence Department around Ooty area. Before proceeding for field work, when I was in the party HQ in Bangalore, I got an intimation from Survey General's Office, Dehra Dun that I had been awarded Silver Medal by the Governor of Assam for meritorious service in NEFA. It was communicated to me orally by my Officer In-charge. I was asked to go to Shillong to receive the award on Republic Day in 1967 from the Governor of Assam. I was very keen to go but my Officer In-charge told me that they cannot send me as I was doing a top priority work for Defence. No matter how much I pleaded, the final reply was 'No'.

I still regret that I could not receive the award in person. However, the medal and the citation were sent to me later.

SOM: How was the survey work at Sultan Batheri? Any incident you want to recall?

Appachu: One day we were to go to the top of a hill in an area that was infested by wild elephants. I took one of the mahouts from the camp as he knew how to scare elephants. On the way he sensed the presence of elephants as we could see freshly cut plants. As we neared an uneven area, suddenly one wild elephant ran towards us trumpeting and kicking up dust. I wanted to follow the mahout but he suddenly, like a monkey, climbed a tree and I saw the elephant approaching me. I started running fast but from the opposite direction I saw three more elephants running towards me. I lost my senses and when I regained composure, I found I had climbed a tree. Due to reflex action, I had run about 10-12 meters inside the forest and climbed up a tree.

This incident happened at about 9am and by about 11am there were about 3-4 elephants gathered at the spot. It was a mother elephant with her baby and mother elephants are normally more ferocious than a rouge elephant. By about 1 pm due to hot sun, the elephants walked away. All the people who had climbed trees got down. Thank God, all were safe.

Cautiously we collected the equipment and returned to our camp. We were in no mood to eat or even to talk. I informed my officer about the incident and after two days he came down to Ooty and conducted an enquiry. He said I should have taken more precautions by taking Police escort to the area of work. I told him that it was not possible to go to Police station daily as it was far away. Then I told him that I was not scared of elephants and if he sends me the blueprint of the area I would complete the work. He went back to Bangalore and sent the blue print and equipment. I worked hard for two months and completed the assignment successfully despite encountering wild elephants twice.

What is McMahon Line?

McMahon Line is a line proposed by McMahon in the Simla Accord which was considered invalid by both Tibetans and Chinese government. It is the effective boundary between China and India although its legal status is disputed by the Chinese.

The line is named after Sir Henry McMahon, foreign secretary of the British-run Government of India and the chief negotiator of the convention at Simla. It extends for 550 miles (890 km) from Bhutan in the west to 160 miles (260 km) east of the great bend of the Brahmaputra River in the east, largely along the crest of the Himalayas. Simla (along with the McMahon Line) was initially rejected by the Government of India as incompatible with the 1907 Anglo-Russian Convention. This convention was denounced in 1921. After Simla, the McMahon Line was forgotten until 1935, when British civil service officer Olaf Caroe convinced the government to publish the Simla Convention and use the McMahon Line on official maps.

The McMahon Line is regarded by India as the legal national border. It is disputed by China. As recently as 2003, the Dalai Lama said that the disputed region was part of Tibet, in 2008, he said that "Arunachal Pradesh was a part of India under the agreement signed by Tibetan and British representatives."

Rice with elephant urine !

Early in 1965, the Survey Department had recruited a few trainees and I was given the responsibility of training them in all aspects of topographical survey. In the field, I was designated as the Camp Officer and we established our camp at Changlang in the foothills of NEFA.

One incident comes to my mind here. At the base of the hill top, we had pitched the tent just to spend the night. Our people took water from a ditch and cooked rice and my cook served it to me. The moment I put it into my mouth, I had widespread burning sensation and I vomited the rice. I washed my mouth with bottled water and slept off. At night an elephant had passed by the side of our tent but caused us no harm. The next day morning when we checked the so called water in the ditch, we found that it was actually elephant's urine! And without realising it, the cook had prepared rice out of it.

AUSTERITY MEASURES

Following Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call for austerity, the State BJP leaders are not making the executive meeting an extravagant affair. Aligning with Swachh Bharat Mission, the venue of the meeting has been declared plastic-free. Plastics are not being used even in banners and there is a blanket ban on flex boards.

For accommodation, State BJP President and former Chief Minister B.S. Yeddyurappa has opted to stay inside the Rajendra Kalamandira. Sources in the party said that as Yeddyurappa has chosen the venue itself as his place of stay, there was no question of other leaders opting for star hotels.

Even Union Ministers are expected to make their own arrangements. MLAs and MLCs will share the available rooms at the venue for accommodation.

The Rajendra Kalamandira is owned by BJP District (City) senior Vice-President M. Rajendra, who is also the President of Karnataka Pradesh Hotel and Restaurants Association. Twenty rooms are available at the venue and over 300 rooms have been booked in medium-range hotels. A separate hotel has been booked for women participants with only women staff, sources said.

Yeddy snubs bête noire Eshwarappa on stage

Does not even look at him when greeted with folded hands

Mysuru, May 6 (MTY&BCT)- The rift between BJP State President and former Chief Minister B.S. Yeddyurappa and Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council and former Deputy Chief Minister K.S. Eshwarappa came out in the open this morning at the State BJP Executive meeting. Yeddyurappa did not even look at Eshwarappa as the latter greeted him on the dais.

The State Executive meeting began at around 11 am and Yeddyurappa and Union Minister H.N. Ananthkumar and other leaders were sitting on the dais. At this point, Eshwarappa walked on the dais and greeted Yeddyurappa with folded hands. While Ananthkumar, who was seated next to Yeddyurappa, got up from his seat to greet Eshwarappa, Yeddyurappa did not even exchange glances with his bête noire. He was busy reading a book.

After a few moments, Eshwarappa walked away from Yeddyurappa and sat beside Ananthkumar. This incident happened in the full view of those on the dais and the delegates, though Yeddyurappa had said yesterday that the party was united. "The rift in the party between me and Eshwarappa in connection with the Sangolli Rayanna Brigade has been resolved," he had told reporters.

At the meeting, RSS functionary and its South-India Co-ordinating Secretary, B.L. Santhosh was conspicuous by his absence. It may be recalled here that Yeddyurappa had some time back blamed Santhosh for abetting rebellion within the BJP. Yeddyurappa had alleged that Santhosh had picked up Eshwarappa to continue his proxy war against him (Yeddyurappa).

This morning, before the BJP Executive began, party workers were seen removing the posters and banners that had Santhosh's name from the venue. They were later dumped behind the Rajendra Kalamandira.

'ESHWARAPPA WAS FORCED TO ATTEND'

Party sources said that Eshwarappa was forced to attend the meeting as he was pushed to the corner with the party not even naming him on the list of speakers.

In Bengaluru yesterday, Eshwarappa said that he will be attending the meeting on both the days, putting an end to speculation that he and his supporters will be skipping the event. "We are loyal party workers. How can we stay away from the State Executive Committee meeting?" he questioned.

Eshwarappa was scheduled to participate in a workshop for the members of the Sangolli Rayanna Brigade in Raichur on May 8. Eshwarappa said that the Brigade event has been postponed and the new dates for the workshop will be announced soon.

While BSY garlands Basavanna, KSE worships Anjaneya

Before the two-day State BJP Executive meeting began at Rajendra Kalamandira this morning, BJP State President B.S. Yeddyurappa garlanded the statue of Basavanna near the Gun House Circle at 9 am along with his supporters former Ministers Shobha Karandlaje and S.A. Ramdas. At around 9.30 am, Leader of the Opposition in the Legislative Council and former Deputy Chief Minister K.S. Eshwarappa arrived at the Pathala Anjaneya Swamy Temple along with former Minister Sogadu Shivanna and other supporters. The supporters shouted slogans in favour of Eshwarappa.

BJP MEET SIDELIGHTS

Mysuru, May 6 (NNN)- The Ramanuja Road leading to the Rajendra Kalamandira where the State BJP Executive Committee meeting began here this morning was abuzz with activity. Apart from media persons who had gathered at the junction of Ramanuja Road and MG Road, a few people were waiting to have a glimpse of the leaders who were arriving in cars to the venue.

There was tight security as only the leaders and the BJP party workers were being allowed inside. It was still early in the morning and there was former Minister S.A. Ramdas and District Co-operative Union President H.V. Rajeev seen welcoming the people.

Ramdas said that nearly 686 people would participate in the meeting which included a few Union Ministers, MPs, State leaders, District in-Charge Presidents and Secretaries, ex-MLC, ex-MLAs, former Ministers apart from the Executive Members and special invitees.

The first such meet was held in 1997 in the city at the same venue and he was in-charge of organising that State-level meet, Ramdas recalled.

There were three people dressed in the traditional Mysuru Durbar dress with the famous Mysuru Peta and long coat and all the three were from the Ursu community. "We are party workers and we want to welcome the leaders and others with the traditional Mysuru flavour," said Abhinda Urs, Harish Urs and Palaksha Raje Urs.

As one entered the hall, to the left were posters of all the new programmes like the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, Beti Bachao Beti Padao, Saksham Kisan, Samridh Bharat, Make in India, Digital India, Accessible India, Empowered India, to name a few, were seen. On the right side was the large picture of Bharat Maata.

On the stage was a huge LCD screen and a few videos of the beginning of the BJP were being screened even as those entering the hall were seen greeting one another. The photos of Syama Prasad Mukherjee, Bharat Maata and Deen Dayal Upadhyaya with garlands were placed on the right side of the dais.

Women neatly clad in sarees were in a very jovial mood as they posed for photographs with the leader Shoba Karandlaje, with the backdrop of the stage.

MARTYRS NAMES

Meanwhile, MP Shobha Karandlaje, who was busy overseeing the arrangements, was found trying to know the names of the martyrs who were recently killed and their bodies mutilated by the Pakistani army and a few from the BJP media cell were seen scrambling to get the names of the yodhas.

One of the party members anxiously told this writer, "the only interest in the meet for all of us is, whether the feud between the two leaders will end," and "I am sure it will be resolved."
